

What is Wraparound?

Wraparound is a voluntary and intensive care management process for youths with serious or complex behavioral health needs and their families. Support and planning are individualized per the needs of the youth and their family. Youth and families will work with a team of individuals trained to support them while moving toward their goals and vision for the future.

Why Should I Participate?

- You will learn strategies to maintain and build success in your home, school, and community.
- You will identify and build upon your individual strengths and the strengths of your family.
- You will learn and build confidence navigating through community systems.
- You will be connected to appropriate services and supports based upon your identified goals.
- Wraparound is a trauma-informed, evidence-based process.
- Wraparound is NOT just more of the same treatment process ...
Wraparound is a unique, individualized planning process that brings people together from different areas of the whole family's life to collaboratively work together towards common goals.
- Throughout the process, you can expect to be respected and your voice to be heard.

Step 3 - A Care Coordinator will contact the referred family to provide an overview of the Wraparound process and Wraparound Review Committee.

The Wraparound Review Committee reviews the referral and provides resources and recommendations to the youth and family.

Step 4 - The referent is notified of the processing status.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q1. Who attends the meetings?

Your wraparound team is selected by you and may include your supports, family/youth partner, care coordinator, and representatives of systems your family is involved with.

Q2. Is Wraparound mandatory?

Wraparound is voluntary and based on your family's voice and choice throughout the entire process.

Q3. Is Wraparound therapy?

Wraparound is not therapy; it is a planning process to develop one plan that meets your family's needs.

Q4. How is my child involved?

Wraparound is family-driven and youth-guided. Your family will be able to discuss how your youth is involved in the process as it is individualized for each family.

Q5. How much does it cost?

Wraparound is available to all Oregon Health Plan (OHP) members at no cost.

Q6. How long does Wraparound last?

The process typically takes around 18 months.

Q7. What is the age range for youth?

Wraparound is for youth from birth to 18 years old.

Q8. Who has access to my information?

All records are confidential, protected by HIPAA, and maintained by CBH. A release of information signed by the parent/guardian is required for release, except where specified by law. All Wraparound documentation and information will not be shared without prior consent.
